I was in line when election results were announced at 8 p.m. and (select all that apply):

- The results did not affect my vote
- The results made my vote worthless, but I still voted
- The results made my vote worthless so I didn’t bother to vote
- I believe the entire state’s election results should be withheld until every last voter in the state has had a chance to vote, no matter how late that means we get results
- I didn’t like that results were released while I was still in line, but March 22nd was a fluke and the state should keep releasing results at 8 p.m. in future elections

Do you believe your voter registration status is inaccurate? If so, please provide your Arizona driver’s license number so your voter registration record can be researched:
